USB handset for Videx PC software concierge

3000 Series design handset with USB connector for connection to the PC and use with the Videx CSW2220 concierge software.

The handset rings when a call is received on the concierge and allows direct answer.

There are two buttons that have different behaviors depending on whether the handset is on or off the hook.

With hooked handset:

- the first button allows you to open the door without answering;
- the second button diverts the call directly to the apartment called by the external unit without answering.

With unhooked handset:

- the first button opens the door after the concierge has answered the call;
- the second button calls the apartment called from the external unit and puts it on hold.

Plug and play connection without installation.

Complete with comfortable desktop kit.
